5/17/2010

1.		Animated Open
2.	Stacey Delikat on Camera 	On Camera Open: I'm Stacey Delikat for the Dot news. This is the Arizona State Capitol. It's become ground zero for a battle being waged over what is now the toughest anti illegal immigration law in the country.	00:11
3.	Demonstrators 	Voice Over: Since its passage in April, the law has triggered demonstrations across Arizona, and the nation.	00:22
4.		Sound Burst From Demo	00:31
5.	Protest in Washington D.C.	Voice Over: The law has renewed a national debate over how immigration laws should be enforced.	00:33
6.	Joe Martinez on Camera, Chief of Police, Kearny, AZ 	SOT: Joe Martinez I think it's about securing our border. We've got some smugglers who are dangerous people.	00:38
7.	Police Car 	Voice Over: Supporters like Police Chief Joe Martinez of Kearny, Arizona say the law is a necessary step to fight crime.	00:48

8.	Immigration Bust 	Voice Over: The law allows police to question anyone they suspect is in the country illegally. Anyone who can't produce the right papers can be arrested, fined or sent to jail. The law also calls for the arrest or people who employ undocumented workers, or transport them.	00:53
9.	Governor Jan Brewer on Camera, R-Arizona 	SOT: Gov. Jan Brewer It protects all of us, every Arizona citizen, and everyone here in our state. The constitutional rights of all in Arizona remain solid, stable, and steadfast.	1:10
10.	Phoenix, Arizona 	VOICE OVER: The state of Arizona has close to half a million undocumented people – non-citizens living in the state illegally. More people cross its border from Mexico than any other state. It also has a large population of legal immigrants.	1:25
11.	Raul Urquidi on Camera, Resident/Small Business Owner 	SOT: Raul Urquidi I can't ask everybody who comes into my truck, my house, do you have papers? Do you have a green card? No that's not right.	1:45
12.	Urquidi Family 	Voice over: Raul Urquidi entered Arizona illegally as a young man. He's now a US citizen, small businessman and home owner. His daughter Carla just graduated from High School.	1:57
13.	Carla Urquidi on Camera, Resident 	SOT: Carla Urquidi What I am scared of is that one of those days my parents will be pulled over, speaking English but not to the fullest. And my fear is that if they were to be stopped they would be considered suspiciously. And then be taken.	2:05

14.	Martinez on Camera	SOT: Chief Joe Martinez I don't see it as being something that is oppressive to Hispanics.	2:22
15.	Kearny, Arizona 	Voice Over: Police Chief Joe Martinez says the law will not change the way his force operates. Kearny is a small mining town in the southeast part of the state with lots of open highway.	2:26
16.	Arizona Road 	SOT: Chief Martinez: Now my officer who is on the side of the road does not have to wait for some federal agency like border patrol, immigration or anyone else. Now we've got a set of statutes that they can enforce.	2:37
17.	Guards on US-Mexico border 	Voice Over: Controlling the US borders, and immigration, is the responsibility of the federal government. Federal law does require legal immigrants to carry permits. Enforcement of immigration laws is a federal, not state or local police responsibility.	2:48
18.	Patrick Bray, AZ Cattlemen's Association 	SOT: Patrick Bray I think what this new legislation shows is that people in Arizona are absolutely just frustrated with the federal government's inability to do their job	3:07
19.	Jail	Voice Over: Patrick Bray of the Arizona Cattlemen's Association sees the issue as one of security, and faults the Federal Government for not controlling the border with Mexico.	3:18
20.	Fence 	SOT: Bray People see on the news where there's a fence and there's a border patrol truck driving back forth. Well those are in the inner cities. //But once you get out 10 miles from the city limits, that fence just disappears and you might go back to three-string fence, enough to turn cattle but that's about it	3:28

21.	Shots of Desert 	SOT: Bray These criminal forces and these drug cartels from Mexico are constantly moving across their lands in the rural parts of Arizona and we're talking thousands of people a day. And they're moving drugs and humans and they have no regard for the ranchers, their property or any of their lives or their family's lives.	3:48
22.	Arizona Capitol	Voice Over: Opponents of the legislation are also looking to the federal government. Carlos Galindo is part of a group which has filed suit.	4:03
23.	Carlos Galindo on Camera, CONLAMIC 	SOT: Carlos Galindo The basis is to seek injunctive relief. To get a judge, a federal court judge to intervene and not allow this law to go into effect.	4:11
24.	Gathering at Capitol 	Voice Over: Carlos Galindo says the issue involves more than undocumented workers, it's about protecting people who are legal.	4:22
25.	Carlos Galindo on Camera	SOT: Carlos Galindo A lot of U.S. citizens, including myself, say I'm offended by the fact that you will use a certain criteria to determine if I'm here undocumented based on possibly on the last name, based on an accent, based on the way I look.	4:31
26.	Kearny Police Department 	SOT: Chief Joe Martinez Racial profiling has never ever been okay in Arizona. And that goes back a long ways. //We're not worried about going into your local restaurant or going onto the golf course and questioning every Hispanic on how he got there. I've lived in Arizona, I'm Hispanic. My entire family is here in Arizona—we're Hispanics, we're not afraid of this law.	4:44

27.	Carla Urquidi on Camera	SOT: Carla Urquidi          We're scared of going outside the house, we're scared of being in certain spots now because of you know we know the police roams around. It has changed Arizona to the point where its wrong. It's unfair and it shouldn't be like that.	5:04
28.	National Demonstrations 	Voice Over:          The Arizona law is now a national political issue.	5:34
29.	President Barack Obama 	SOT: President Obama          Our failure to act responsibly at the federal level will only open the door to irresponsibility by others. And that includes, for example, the recent efforts in Arizona, which threatened to undermine basic notions of fairness that we cherish as Americans.	5:29
30.	Representative John Boehner, R-House Minority Leader 	SOT: John Boehner          I have been around here for a little while, and know that, in the middle of an election year, after we have had bills like health care shoved down our throats in a process twisted, tortured, pressured, bribed, you cannot do a serious piece of legislation of this size, with this difficulty, in this environment.	5:44
31.		Voice Over:          While the debate over the law continues, its impact is being felt across the Arizona. National organizations are calling for a boycott of the state, while local companies serving the immigrant communities are seeing a sharp drop in their business.          I'm Stacey Delikat for the Dot News	6:08
