KidVision Pre-K Take Home Pages are tools to meaningfully and consistently teach Language, Communication, and Emergent Literacy skills to 4-year-olds.

Spanish Take Home Pages are included to involve Spanish-speaking parents in the education of their children. They can also be used in the classroom as a Spanish lesson with each field trip.

When completing a Take Home Page with a child, follow these directions:

1. Name Letters

Write out the child's first and last name at the top of the page. Talk about each letter as you or the child writes it. When complete, ask the child to point to and name all the letters of their name.

2. Practice Listening Comprehension

After viewing the virtual field trip, talk to the child about it. Ask questions about places, people, things, where they went, what they did, and what the child learned. Then ask the child the prompt question at the bottom of the page, "What do you remember about the field trip?" and write their direct quote in the space provided.

3. Review Vocabulary

After viewing the virtual field trip, ask the child what new words they learned or liked. On the back of the Take Home Page, list four words from the field trip and talk about their meaning. When the child takes their page home, parents can reinforce these vocabulary words.

4. Perform Fine Motor & Emergent Writing Skills

Coloring, drawing and writing on the page brings the child's hand to the paper. Exercising hand and finger muscles helps to improve handwriting skills.

5. Engage in Language and Communication

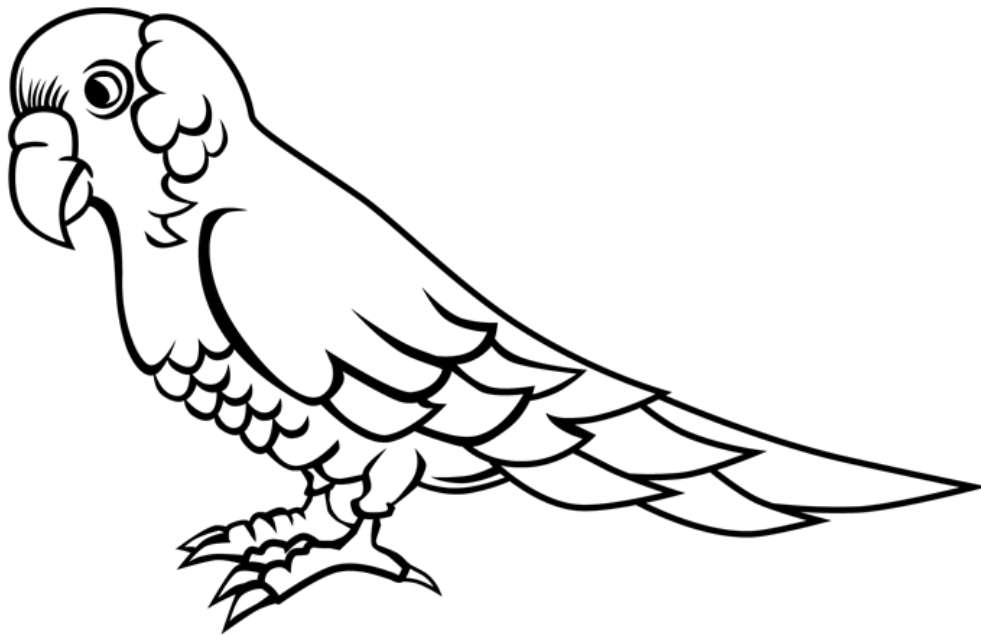

The child engages in language and communication when discussing the Field Trip using the Take Home Page as a tool to share what they saw and learned. At school, teachers and students talk as they complete the pages together. At home, parents and family are engaged as the child shares their personal page.
